Harpists

This is a directory of UK Harpists available for weddings, corporate events, recitals and other functions. The harp is known as the 'instrument of the gods' and dates back to ancient times. The magical 'fairy tale' sound of the harp will enchant any audience and it is capable of transforming a 'run of the mill' event, into an elegant, emotional experience. It is for this reason that harpists are often booked to perform at functions such as wedding ceremonies, drinks receptions, wedding breakfasts, dinner dances and similar events. The additional benefit of engaging the services of a harpist for such events is that guests can talk without the music being intrusive on the conversation. Most harpists have a wide repertoire, ranging from the classical greats, traditional folk, jazz and show tunes through to popular artists such as Elton John, Sting, etc.

Is There A Harpist That Performs In Your Area?

There are a wide range of harpists featured on this website, covering most areas of the UK. If there is not a harpist available in your area, we will endeavour to source the nearest one to you. All have spent many years mastering their art and all are very experienced and fully qualified.

Please feel free to browse through this website to find a harpist to suit your event. Alternatively, complete our enquiry form and we will send you a free no obligation quote for the harpists closest to you, as soon as possible.

When Should You Book Your Harpist?

In many areas of the country, the demand for harpists far exceeds their availability and it can be very difficult to find yourself a good harpist unless you book well in advance. If you find a harpist you like and at a price you are happy with, we strongly suggest you book him / her as soon as possible. All bookings made through us are contracted to give you peace of mind.

Short Notice Bookings!

If you have left it to the last minute and you need a harpist at short notice, then contact us. We have the largest selection in the UK and therefore, we are more likely to be able to provide one for you.
